latest role-playing game by Gust, which shines with the atmosphere of a fantasy that includes the strong sense of the dark culture. Our Hero and their Friends were happy to be alive, but they were helpless as their enemies build formidable weapons and were backed up by overwhelming numbers. Even so, they defeated the enemy army with their own limited power and immediately left the battlefield. A little while later, they met a mysterious man who told them that they were heading east. They had no choice but to go to the tavern. "That guy said that I should ask you guys for help." So the same man spoke in a loud voice. "Guys, guys, did you bring along your strength?" One of the people near the man also spoke. "But..." The person who had just met him waited for the right moment. "What happened to us is not a fight. It's not a battle. It's an unfortunate situation." The man who came out of nowhere, is it alright? "Our names are Aifa and Cecil." "Till today, we have not met." Till they meet, till they meet, till they meet. ◆
